Your house FOR THE AMERICAN.

The winter nights are beautiful, when the silvery moonlight turns the fair pale snow, into a sheet of luoid pearl, and wreaths the trees like those in the garden of Alladin's mp with airclets of glowing gems— Even the child feels their magic and with cheerful shout, crimsoned cheeks, and brigh-tened eyes, bounds forth into the cold bracing

"In the thick of the storm how happy are they. To welcome the first deep snowy day!"

Who has not some reminiscense of his childhood that sends the blood with a warmer thrill through his heart, even if its chambers of joy, have been closed like the door of the ark, by invisible hands? Who has not tossed the pure white snow in feathery flakes around him, or with busy hands mouldded it into fantastic forms, or merily glided down the hill side in his mimic sled, then panting and breathless drawn it to the top

And when the day was over, who has forgotten the fearful tragedy and ghost story told in the witching hour of twilight, by the winter fire, how the little group involuntarily drew closer together, and timid eyes were cast stealthily around, fearing that a specter might start upon them from the shadows of the room?

There is a holy repose in a winter night that stirs with a strange power the fountains of the soul The earth in its "stainless robes of velvet white," seems like a spirit-land, and as we gaze upon its etherial beauty, throngs of shadowy forms gather like wreaths of " "round and with mournful eyes look in-

ESCALUTE CAN ELLE Patent Air-Tight SUMMER AND WINTER COOKING STOVES.

THE above Stove, which is equally well adapted to Wood or Coal, has received silver medals at the fairs of the American Institute, New York; of the Mechanics' Institute, Boston; of the Prankin Institute, Philadelphia; and of the Mechanics' Institute, Wilmington, Delaware. It is capable, if properly used, of doing more work, with less fael, than any other Stove yet offerest to the public: in winter it will warm the largest kitchen, while in summer, with the sammer dress attached, it throws out no more bent than a charcoal furnace; and for boiling, broiling, tracking, or rousting, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, open fire, or brick oven.

Read the following, and say that consumption is in incarable if you can:

New York, April 23, 1847.

Dr. Townsenn: I verily believe that your Sarsaparitla has been the means, through Providence, of saving my life I have for several years had a bad cough. It became worse and worse. At hast I raised large quantities of blood, had night sweats and was greatly debitated and reduced, and did not expect to live. I have only used your Sarsaparilla but a short time, and there has a wonderful change been wrought in me. I am now able to walk all over the city.—I raise no blood, and my cough has left me. You can well imagine that I am thankful for these results. Your obedient servant.

LOST HER SPEECH.

The annexed certificate tells a simple and truthful story of suffering and relief. There are thousands of similar cases in this city and Brooklyn, and yet there are thousands of parents let their children die for fear of being humbaged or to save a few shillings.

Brooklyn, Sept. 13, 1847.

Dr. Tewnsen: I take pleasure in stating, for the benefit of those whom it may concern, that my daughter, two years and six months old, was afflicted with general debitity and less of speech. She was given up as past recovery by our family physician; but fortunately I was recommended by a friend to try your Sarsaparilla. Before having used one bottle she recovered her speech and was enabled to walk hole, to the astonishment of all who were equainted with the circumstances. She is now quite well, and in much better health than she has been for 18 months past.

It will not be expected of us, in cases of so delicate a mature, to exhibit certificates of cares performed, but we can assure the afflicted that hundreds of cases have been reported to us.

Dr. Townsexn: My wife being greatly distressed by weakness and general debility, and suffering continually by pain and with other difficulties, and having known cases where your medicine has effected great cures; and also hearing it recommended for such cases as I have described, I obtained a bottle of your Extract of Sarsaparilla and followed the directions you gave me. In a short period it removed her complaints and restored her to health. Being greatful for the benefits she received, I take pleasure in thus acknowledging it, and recommending it to the public.

DYSPEPSIA.

No fluid or medicing has ever been discovered which so nearly resembles the pastric juice or saliva in decamposing food and strengthening the organs of disection as this preparation of Sarsaparilla. It positively cures every case of dyspepsia, however severe or chronic.

Bank Department, Atlany, May 10, 1845.

Dr. Townsend—Sir: I have been afflicted for sevesal years with dyspepsia in its worst form, attended with surness of stomach, loss of appoints, extreme heartburn, and a great aversion to all kinds of food, and for weeks, (what I could eat) I have been unable to retain but a small portion on any stomach. I tried the usual remades, but they had but little or no effect in removing the complaint. I was induced, about two mouths since, to try your Extract of barmaparille, and I must say with little condidence; Lat after using nearly two bottles, I found my appetite restored and the heartburn entirely removed; and I would entirely removed; and I would entirely removed; and I would entirely removed in the sent dark of the s

The history of this medicine is peculiar. It has made its way to public fivor solely by the force of its own intrinsic merits. No artificial means have been used to give it notoriety and thrust it upon public attention. It has never before even been advertised, but having first shown its remarkable efficacy in the family of the proprietor, and by him afterwards administered to his afflicted friends and acquantumers with a like result, his reputation gradually extended until it is known in the most distant parts of the Union, as a medicine of unrivalled virtues in the cure of Dyspepsis in all its different forms, and also for the cure of Asthma or Pithisic. Its only herald and its only callegy has been the story of its wonderful efficacy, as told from mouth to mouth or by letter from friend to friend. In every instance where these Bitters have been used, and the result made known to the proprietor, they have proved a remedy.

Dear Sir.—I have been a dysophte sufferer for about ten years, and have resorted to various medicines for relief without success, until I made use of your "Oxygenated Bitters." I have used about two bottlers, and had myself restored to perfect health. The forms in which the discase showed itself, in my case, were, great acidity of the stomach, loss of appetite, extreme flatalence, severe constitution of the bowels, and violent headsche. Feeling desirons that a knowledge of your valuable remedy may reach others similarly inflicted. I take great pleasure in recording my testimony to its cumtive power: and would also remark, that while on a visit at home a short time slace, I administered a part of a bottle to a number of my afficient friends, with great success. They are desirous that you should establish an agency at Pritsburg, or inform them where the medicine can be obtained. With an currect desire for your pragagarity and happiness, I subscribe myself, truly your friend.

The following letter is in reply to a note from our agent risking Dr. Bouton's opinion of this medicine:

Tunkmannoux, August 20, 1819.

Mr. A. Durham—Dear Sir: In reply to your note of yesterday, I would state, that I have occasionally found it con-veniet to use the various "Patent Pills" vended in the shops and while I am unwilling to my anything to depreciate value of others, I am free to confess that I consider Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills superior to all others with which I am acquainted. I have used them for many years both in my own family and in my practice generally, and they have uniformly proved mild, certain and safe in their operations The care and skill with which these pills have been hithertmanufactured arc, in my opinion, a sufficient guarantee for like good results in future. Very respectfully,
